PineApp Signs OEM Agreement with Mainline

Mainline to integrate PineApp's email security software into IBM servers and create new security appliance solutions

TALLAHASSEE, FL (January 21, 2008) Mainline Information Systems, a leading IBM Premier Business Partner, today announced that it has signed an OEM agreement with PineApp Corp., a global leader in securing network and email systems.

Under the terms of the agreement, Mainline will purchase PineApp software and install it directly on the appropriate appliance in IBM servers.

"We are delighted that Mainline joins us as an OEM and will integrate PineApp software with IBM hardware," said Steve Curry, V.P of channel sales for PineApp Americas. "It is extremely gratifying that PineApp has been chosen to provide the email security component in Mainline's complete solutions package. This agreement will increase our coverage and market reach as well as expand Mainline's product offerings to their customers."

Founded in 1989, Mainline has become a global provider of information technology and business solutions. "Mainline has developed a strong partnership with IBM over the past 19 years," said Bill Sullivan, Director of Information Security Solutions for Mainline. "We are excited about the recent agreement with PineApp and are looking forward to providing our customers with this proven solution for enhancing email security."
