

Mainline ENTERPRISE DATA SOLUTIONS

Faster Performance, Greater Efficiency and Ease of Management at a Fraction of the Cost

Who Says You Can't Have the Best of All Worlds?

IT budgets don't keep pace with data and business growth, yet finding ways to leverage mass quantities of structured and unstructured data is key to your success. You are ready to take advantage of fast, reliable, scalable storage but selecting and implementing the right enterprise data solution sounds overwhelming and risky.

Let Mainline Take the Risk Out of Positive Change

We Offer Selection, Design, Implementation and Support Services

Mainline's Enterprise Data experts keep their fingers on the pulse of new technology for you, keeping close tabs on better, faster, cheaper ways to manage your data.

We look at a variety of drivers to determine the true nature of your data needs, factoring in:

- ✓ Tech market trends and analysis
- ✓ User experience
- ✓ Business strategy
- ✓ Processes and procedures
- ✓ Performance needs
- ✓ Data governance

Then, using our expertise in various storage options, including CKD, Block, File and Object, Flash, and Cloud we architect a best-of-breed design that satisfies both demand and budget. For example, a solution could provide a global object store that can be used for images, video surveillance, backup and archive, and can be housed on-premise, in the cloud or both.

Why Mainline for Data Storage Transformation?

Storage is foundational to Mainline's business, and for more than 25 years we have paved the path to smarter solutions that work in practice, not just in theory. We've delivered the right solutions to our clients utilizing leading storage technologies such as IBM, HP, Dell EMC, Infinidat, Pure Storage, Nimble, Netapp and other emerging technology vendors. Mainline consultants offer full data transformation services, from assessment through implementation and managed services, saving our clients time and money, and minimizing risk. We can also position you to navigate your data lake so that your information is easily extractable and actionable for greater business agility.
